

Supporting Providers in Group Living Situations during COVID-19

This document provides interim guidance specific for congregate or shared living providers of people with behavioral health disorders during the outbreak of Coronavirus 2019 (COVID-19). Congregate living includes and is not limited to, homeless shelters, domestic violence shelters, residential facilities, recovery homes, etc. In addition to monitoring for signs of COVID-19, providers need to continue supporting residents in managing their mental health, addiction recovery, and primary care needs.
